

Don't worry about it at all. Hopefully everything is getting better with your family. The one in the middle is cool with the handwriting. Would it be possible to take out the font in the grille and make it even simpler? So there is only enough detail inside the truck so people can recognize it as a lifted truck with mud tires?

Take your time, I understand you are busy. No rush!